TWO KINDS OF TIME

University of Washington Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 734 pages. Dimensions: 8.3in. x 5.4in. x 1.8in. Graham Peck (1914-1968) made his first trip to China in 1935 and served with the U. S. Office of War Information in China throughout the 1940s. His memoir, Two Kinds of Time, first published in 1950, is witty and eloquent in both its words and the drawings with which it is lovingly illustrated. Long out of print in its unabridged version, this engagingly written eye-witness narrative of China on the eve of revolution remains an important source of historical and political information. Robert A. Kapps new Introduction analyzes the books original contribution and highlights its relevance to issues in the twenty-first century world. It gives me great joy to celebrate the reappearance of the best book on China that I have ever read, Graham Pecks Two Kinds of Time, nearly six decades after its original publication. This book is at once hilarious and horrifying, heart-warming and heart-breaking, educational and entertaining. - From the Introduction What is missing in the most recent assessments of Chinas tectonic changes over the past half century is a baseline against which to measure the grand scale of its development. Two Kinds of Time by Graham Peck, written in lucid, descriptive prose by someone who has based his reportage on being there, provides just such a baseline. In the most vivid way, Peck takes us back to Chiang Kai-sheks China during WWII, and by doing so, reminds us of the amazingly transformative odyssey this so-called sick man of Asias has been on since. - Orville Schell, Arthur Ross Director, The Center on US-China Relations, Asia Society This unique and fascinating book tells how Graham Peck looked into the hearts of the Chinese of his day, from peasant to coolie to clerk,...
